Academic Project:

Project Title: Embedded Based Advanced Postpaid Energy Meter.

Description:

Our project is Embedded Based Advanced Postpaid Energy Meter. It is based on the concept “Pay after you use it”. Customer can pay their Electricity Bill using their credit/debit card in their home itself. The major drawback of traditional billing system is power and energy theft. The payment is done by simply swiping and entering the pin of the card on keypad. According to the power consumption, SMS will be sent to the customer and a grace period of 10 days will be given for payment. A relay system has been used to shut down through supply mains when the payment is not done even after due date.
